COUNCIL WILL BUILD FINE FLINT STREETS

City Council Ordered Complete Set of Machinery for That Purpose.

WILL BEGIN WORK SOON

Machinery is Expected Within Thirty Days, When Work Will Begin at Once. Surveyor Lyons Will Come Wednesday to Begin Survey for Sewerage.

Another step toward the advancement of the city has been taken by the City Council, which body, in special session, has decided to purchase improved road and street building machinery, and a resolution to that effect has been passed, and the order will be placed for the machinery Monday.

The order will comprise one ten-ton Kelly combination roller and harrow, one No. 4 Champion crusher and one twenty-horse power electric motor, which will be used as power in place of steam.

The action of the council was taken by motion of Alderman Benson, who has always been an enthusiast on hard roads and streets. University street was constructed under the direction of Alderman Benson as chairman of the street committee several years ago, and it has stood well, requiring very little repair.

Chairman Taylor of the street committee, who is also an enthusiast on streets or anything else for the advancement of the city, stated Saturday that the machinery would be ordered at once, and that it should arrive in Gainesville within three weeks, when it will be placed immediately in position. Chairman Taylor will proceed at once to ask for bids for supplying flint rock, of which there is an abundance in this county within a few miles of the city, and the lowest and best bidder will be required to go to work at once in the matter of mining the material. By the time the machinery arrives several hundred tons will likely be ready for the crusher.

The first work laid out by Chairman Taylor will be the repairing of University street, which has not had attention for some time, after which he will begin the paving of West Liberty street from Fifth street to the University grounds. At a recent meeting the council passed a resolution ordering this thoroughfare widened from sixty to eighty feet, which will permit of a grass plot on either side. Mr. Taylor proposes to superintend this work himself, and will see that a thorough job is accomplished.

The Material.

In speaking of the material to be used in the construction of the streets, Chairman Taylor stated that it was the purpose of the city to use a layer of Alachua lime rock, five inches in thickness and well packed, which will be followed by a coating of three inches of No. 2 and No. 3 flint, finely ground and thoroughly packed. This composition was used by the United States government experts here, and has proved to be a most lasting material. The government constructed one block here which has given entire satisfaction, being as hard and firm as a brick pavement.

The Sewerage Question.

It will be remembered that at a recent special meeting of the council the proposition of W. W. Lyons for submitting plans and specifications for a sewerage system was accepted. Mr. Lyons is now engaged in constructing the sewerage system in Palatka, but writes Chairman Taylor that he will arrive in Gainesville Wednesday of the coming week for the purpose of beginning work.

With the contemplated city improvements now in hand, the elegant new University buildings to be established, and with other building, it is safe to say that Gainesville will be the busiest "little city" in the State for the next twelve months.

Fishing Party Returns.

The fishing party, comprising E. A. O'Neill, "chairman," W. S. McDowell, E. K. Fagan and J. H. Truby, have returned from Cedar Key and the Gulf Coast, where they have enjoyed themselves and "got fat" from eating fish and clams for the past ten days.

The party spent all the time in camp life on the various keys in the vicinity of Cedar Key and report fine luck fishing. Mr. Fagan, however, carried off the honors during the trip, having caught with hook and line a thirty-five pound redfish. The fish afforded lots of sport, and Mr. O'Neill states that it required forty-seven minutes to land it.
